Classic car club members put on great show

Rare and amazing vehicles

The UK's best classic motoring clubs are going all out for this year's Peter James Insurance Bromley Pageant of Motoring as they bring together breath-taking displays of rare and amazing vehicles.

The Aston Martin Owners Club, a regular supporter of the event, will have a whopping 70 cars on display ranging from the earliest marques right through to the latest models. Undoubtedly the display will include DB5s.

Parades

The MG Owners Club will also have a significant presence with around 30 limited edition vehicles to mark the 50th anniversary of the MGB.

And there are more golden anniversaries from the Renault Alpine owners who celebrate 50 years of the Alpine A110 and Renault 8 as well as 40 years of the Renault 5.

The Ford Anglia 105e also celebrates its 30th birthday.

More than 150 clubs will have cars on display.

They range from national car clubs such as Porsche Club GB, the Ferrari Club and the Panther Car Club to regional clubs such as the Kent Classic and Sports Car Club, London and Surrey Mini Owners Club and South Essex Three Club.

The clubs will join in various parades that take place in the main arena throughout the day, hosted by Practical Classics Magazine Editor Danny Hopkins. These include pre-war, custom and competition cars, motorcycles and even buses, commercial and military vehicles.

The main arena will also feature thrilling displays by stunt motorcycle rider Steve Colley and his display team and live entertainment from the popular 60s rock and roll band, The Flames.
