The biggest star of the mob-themed Panther stand was also arguably the smallest. 'Il Piccolo', also known as 'The Cub' looks like a Kallista that's shrunk in the wash, and has a fascinating story behind it. Originally the brainchild of Arthur White, the car was intended for his grand-daughter, but shortly before his untimely death he charged his son with finishing the job. Powered by a washing machine motor with 12V electrics, the car has hand-beaten bodywork working lights and a genuine cut-down Kallista grille. The stand won the best themed stand prize and Val Bridges, chair, reckoned "this is wonderful recognition for one of the smaller clubs exhibiting at the NEC". MLC
